

Cheryl Seminara currently serves as the Director of the Employee Development Division in FEMA, the same division that won the prestigious W. Edwards Deming Award in 2014. Tasked with changing the agency's leadership culture across all levels of responsibility, Dr. Seminara led an innovative and wide-scale program to employ multiple instructional strategies while maintaining a focus on the needs of the individual adult learners. In addition to her Ph.D., Master's Degree, and several Master's Certificates, Dr. Seminara also has more than 20 years' experience as a leader in several industries.